lic Improvement Group To Apply for Allocation.

Construction of a new Grady hospital and medical center, to cost between $2,500,000 and $3,-000,000 by the city of Atlanta with federal aid will be considered today by a special council-citizens committee, it was learned last

The committee will meet at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon in Rich's tea room to study improvements which could be made by allocation of federal "pump-priming" funds to Atlanta.

chairman of the special public improvement committee, will ask that committee to apply for federal aid in building a new and greater Grady hospital which would make Atlanta the medical center of the south.

Hartsfield, who was reached by telephone in Savannah last night where he dined with officers aboard the U.S. S. Savannah, commended the idea.

"I think this is a project of great importance and I hope that it can be realized." said the mayor.

Favor Modern Structure.

Members of the board of trustees of Grady hospital are favorable to the suggestion that a modern, fire-proof building, approximately twice the size of the present hospital, be erected on ground adjacent to the present white hospital, it was said. Callaway asserted officials of Emory University, who have been reported to be purchasing land surrounding Grady for building a medical center, will be asked for advice and aid if the public improvement committee recommends it as a part of its civic improvement program. Would Use Emory Land.

The fourth ward alderman said he would suggest the new building be constructed on the land owned by Emory University, if it can be transferred to the city, and that the present building now used for white patients be used by negroes. The present negro clinic and hospital, which is across Butler street from the white section of Grady, could be disposed of profitably, Callaway said.

The alderman pointed out the present hospital is not fire-proof and that it lacks many of the vitally important facilities necessary for the nucleus of a medical center such as is contemplated. "I am confident that the city 000,000 from the federal government through the WPA or some

According to an announcement by Mrs. Austin Kimball, national president, formerly of Atlanta, who presides, delegates during seven days of convention will try to determine how best they can put Christianity into practice in a world "where it is almost impossible to be a Christian."

"Some of us," she said, "have been disturbed by something we have come to know as the 'new orthodoxy.' We have looked at it through the eyes and brains of some of our leading theologians and we have been fearful that it might turn into a religion of escape. As we have understood more fully, we have recognized in it a fresh dynamic that can make our social ideals come true in a way that the liberalism of the past quarter century has not been successful in doing—and that cer-tainly there is a sustaining power that can help an individual and perhaps an organization to ride out of the storm."

HARMON INDICTED ON PERJURY COUNT IN GRAFT INQUIRY

Sandwich Shop Operator Charged With Swearing Falsely Before Jury.

An indictment charging Murray Harmon, Pryor street sandwich shop operator, with perjury was returned by the Fulton county grand jury yesterday as the first action of the jury on its threat to indict witnesses who refuse to co-operate in the probe of police graft.

Harmon was charged with swearing falsely before the grand jury when asked whether he had ever paid bribes to former Deputy Sheriffs W. R. (Cap) Joyner and O. J. Stanley not to arrest him for healthy lives activities this for bootleg liquor activities while they were in office.

The indictment was returned after the two deputies, Stanley and Joyner, appeared before the grand jury yesterday. They recently turned state's evidence in the trial of "Pee Wee" Burns on the beiners. 37 counts of bribery. It was brought out in court that they had been granted immunity.

GRIPS GOVERNMENT. HOOVER DECLARES

Ex-President Turns to Women 'Because Men Haven't Done Much of Late.'

FRESNO, Cal., April 26.—(P)—Former President Herbert Hoover tonight appealed to politically minded women for a fight against what he termed "a moral receson" in American government. Loss of morals in self-government paved the way for the rise of European dictatorships, Hoover said before the Federation of Republican Women's Clubs.

Hoover said he was turning to women "as a complaining citizen" because "the men haven't done much of late" and because "it is ... a commonplace fact that moral instincts of women are upon average higher than men.

"We have for five years listened to a continuous defamation of everything that has gone before. Honest achievement of men has been belittled and attributed to improper motives. Ideals embed-ded in our patriotism are smeared with contempt. . . . We are told that we are in ruins and we must begin anew. We are told that gov-

Among his "simple principles of government" and 'immoralities' suggested by questions, were:

Loans to Carriers To Buy Equipment Heads Five-

WASHINGTON, April 26.—(P) Federal, railroad and labor leaders advanced today a five-point "minimum program" for railroad legislation at the present session of congress.

Loans to railroads for the pur-chase of equipment—with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation taking the equipment as se-curity—headed the program. The conferees also suggested ork loans for railroads agreeing to replace men who have been furloughed since October. The third point was that for 12 months the Interstate Commerce Commission should not be required to certify that loan-seek-ing railroads can be expected to meet their fixed charges without reorganization.

Chairman Jesse H. Jones, of the RFC, and Chairman Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, spokesman for the conferees, said these loans would not be made, however, un-less the railroads could offer adequate security.

The final points in the program were continuance of grade sepa-ration work at government ex-pense and that the government bear "its just proportion of the expense" when it orders railroads to put in bridges to accommodate water transportation. Both Jones and Wheeler said they regarded the program as one that could be put through this session of congress.

Among the conferees were J. J. Pelley, representing rail manage-ment, and George M. Harrison, representing rail labor.

ATLANTA, GA., APRIL 27, 1938. BRITAIN AND IRELAND MAKE PEACE

With the signing of the agreement in London. Britain and Ireland have brought to an end one of the most bitter and, perhaps, unnecessary quarrels in the long history of discordant relations between the two nations. The treaty, which was designed to soften and alleviate old enmities, as well as solve economic and defense problems, quite naturally does not directly embrace the all-important national issue of a united Ireland.

The quarrel, of course, dates back farther than one cares to remember. But the economic impasse was reached in 1932 when the President of the Irish Free State, Eamon de Valera, refused to pay over annuities representing repayment of money advanced by Britain to assist Irish tenants in buying their lands, Britain retaliated by erecting a high tariff wall against Irish farm products, and Ireland, in turn, set up an impost against all British manufactured goods. Thus both countries, as it were, set out deliberately to damage themselves.

No two countries in the world are more favorably situated for an amicable, peaceful economic life, side by side. Ireland needs British manufactured goods. Britain needs Irish farm products. Any trade barriers between them are as damaging to one as to the other.

Under the new agreement, however, the punitive tariffs will be greatly modified, if not removed entirely. Irish farm products will be put on the same preferential basis as are accorded products of the dominions. Tariffs against British manufactured goods will be practically eliminated.

The annuity payments, withholding of which started the late economic war, are to be waived under the condition that Ireland spend substantial amounts for purposes of defense. This part of the agreement will enable Britain to relinquish support of certain naval bases in Ireland which have long been maintained, and will necessarily have to be continued, as part of the national system of defense.

Relaxation of political tension between the two nations will probably open the door to better understanding between the people of South Ireland and North Ireland. Much significance may thus be attached to the nomination, by Ireland's two largest political parties, of Dr. Douglas Hyde, 78-year-old Gaelic scholar and a Protestant, as a candidate in the May 31 presidential election. It may reasonably be considered as a friendly gesture toward North Ireland, where the majority of the people are Protestant.

Following hard upon the Anglo-Italian accord, the British-Irish settlement is of tremendous importance from another angle. One by one, it may be noted, Great Britain is healing the sore spots against the day when the very existence of the empire may be placed in

FOREST POTENTIALITIES

If, as is now indicated, the federal government is going to pour more billions of dollars in relief channels, the south should not miss an opportunity to have a considerable portion of its share of this money diverted to reforestation, improvement of present timber stands, forest-handling education for farmers and creation of new park areas for general recreation.

According to estimates prepared by Donald R. Brewster, formerly a senior forester of the United States Forest Service, 20,000,000 acres of permanent Georgia forest lands would yield $20,000,000 a year in capital income plus a labor income of $3 to $5 an acre per year, a total of from $60,000,000 to $100,000,000. From these figures the great potential value of these resources indicates the importance to the state of an extended program of development.

The federal money, if provided, can be used either for more non-income-producing projects or for the creation of new wealth under a wide forest program. Despite the great advances made throughout the state in forest work during the past few years, much remains to be accomplished in utilizing waste lands and in conserving for posterity the present timber

MAKING STOCK PURCHASES SAFER.

As a result of the recent Whitney episode, proposals for change, both good and bad, are pouring into the offices of the New York Stock Exchange. Among them, at least three are supported by a fair line of reasoning.

The first calls for a reduction in membership and is said to have Security Exchange Commission support. It would be accomplished by the exchange purchasing seats, as they become available, with funds provided from taxes on personal transactions of members. Basis for the proposal is that there is not now sufficient brokerage business to go around.

Second, that stock exchange operators be assessed to pay off investors' losses resulting from failure of exchange members. This is predicated on the FDIC principle, guaranteeing bank deposits up to $5,000. Basis for this proposal is that unless investors are offered protection against failures, both honest and dishonest, there will be even less business for exchange members.

The third would simplify requirements for the registration of corporations desiring to have their securities offered on the exchange. Basis for this, naturally, is to make it easier for small firms to expand financially to meet the demands of husiness. This plan is also understood to have backing in the SEC.

Of the other proposals which have flooded the exchange, most of them are highly impracticable. It is a good bet, however, that demands for reform will continue to pour in. As long as men are allowed to remain in business simply because nobody cares to question the solvency of such eminent gentlemen, even when it is known on the inside they are bankrupt, demands for extreme measures are likely to continue. Investors should be relieved, as far as possible, of the feeling that their funds are being utilized to line somebody else's pockets.

MORONS LOOSE TRAGEDY

In two instances last week news reports told of firemen and civilians killed and seriously injured in crashes resulting from false alarm runs. The perpetrators of these alarms have not yet been caught, but it is hoped they will be found and the full measure of penalty permissible under the law imposed. It is too much to expect that conscience will exact its own penalty. Persons to whom such a trick provides a vicarious thrill seldom, if ever, are possessed of mentality capable of conscience.

It is difficult to conceive the thought-processes of such people. For a fire engine is an emergency vehicle in the highest sense of the word. The slightest delay in arrival at the scene of a fire may cost lives and valuable property. To prevent this, fire engines are driven at high speeds by capable, trained drivers, whose skill is equal to that of race car handlers. Every time firemen are called from their station their lives are risked that other lives may not be lost. At the scene of a fire they frequently place their lives in jeopardy. Each door opened may mean a blast of death, every excursion within the limits of effective hose use may mean a trap under falling walls or debris.

Yet these are the lives needlessly, heedlessly and wantonly placed in further danger to satisfy the thrill-seeking morons who turn in an alarm should be as severe as the act is false alarms. The penalty for turning in such een proposed that all national holidays, with the exception of Christmas and New Year's, shall, in future, be observed on the Monday nearest to the usual date.

Advocates of this plan claim it would save at least a billion dollars annually to the railroads, to industry and to the general public.

Certainly, whether these cash savings would be realized or not, it would result in better knowledge, for the average city dweller, of the glories of nature and the open. It would bring many new thousands to enjoy the delights of the national and state parks and other recreation centers now being developed.

For the effect would be to lengthen many week ends during the year, thus giving workers an additional day in which to seek vacation spots further afield from their homes.

The supporters of the "Mondays for holidays" plan claim it would result in large savings for industry by eliminating much of the expense incident to midweek shutdowns. They declare the railroads would benefit by greater passenger travel on the lengthened week ends and by economies in freight transportation uninterrupted by erratic holiday conditions.

And the general public would benefit financially, it is contended, through the opportunity to plan and conserve their vacation expenses more intelligently.

The plan is undoubtedly worthy of consid-

HOW A CITY IS JUDGED

Most of us judge our acquaintances to some extent by the appearance of their homes. If their house or apartment is neatly and attractively maintained, we usually assume that they are dependable and likable people. We also apply this rule of thumb to communities. Survey Voters Give Views on How To Fight Depression and Ask That Restrictions on Business Be Removed.

Failure to realize the difference between will and desire causes many to invite disappointment and despair, for they work against nature and attempt the impossible.

It might almost be said that will is the opposite of desire, for if one must exercise will-power to require himself to do a thing, it certainly is something he does not desire to do, whereas, the thing he ardently desires to do is done without the slightest effort of will.

Will-power is authority requiring obedience. It says: "Thou shalt." It is the whip needed to drive one, against natural inclination, to do the thing that is unpleasant or disagreeable or difficult. It can achieve wonders, when highly developed, but from first to last it works against the grain and earns every advance.

Only the strongest can win by will-power, for one who would

Only the strongest can win by will-power, for one who would advance by that method must first conquer himself. And the wisest of books says that one who conquers himself is greater than one Desire is motive power of another kind and infinitely more powerful. Its victories seem effortless because its strength is so great. It is the elemental and primeval motive—the natural power that has served all creatures since the beginning.

Compare the two forces in operation.

A man whose chief pleasure is smoking decides for some trivial reason to quit. The only support of his resolution is will-power, wherefore he must exert his will every time he is tempted. It is a constant struggle. But let some rich and eccentric relative offer hm a million dollars if he will quit for a month, and the desire for that great fortune will become an obsession that occupies all his waking thoughts. The normal desire to smoke will be overwhelmed by the greater desire, and tobacco will be forgotten in his excited day-dreaming future. To desire a thing is to get it, if getting is possible. There is no oconflict or struggle. One simply goes ahead in singleness of purpose and grim or happy concentration till the thing is done.

Urging youngsters to overcome temptation gives them hard work oo do; training them to desire the right things makes the right way

NEW YORK, April 26 .- (AP)-Publishers of the nation's smaller newspapers were urged by James G. Stahlman, of the Nashville (Tenn.) Banner, today to be alert to what he described as repeated attempts made to "hamstring the American press."

Stahlman, opening the 52d annual convention of the American Newspaper Publishers' Associa-tion, of which he is president, said he had been "astounded at the unconcern expressed by many of the publishers of the smaller newspapers toward encroachments which are gradually being made on a free press."

"I have had many publishers say to me that the battle for the preservation of free speech and a free press in this country was not theirs," he said, "that they were safe in their own bailiwicks and that the fight for a free press was mainly an effort on the part of the larger publishers to arrogate to themselves special privileges which they would deny to others

Does Mr. William Alexander Need A Good Running Guard?

LONDON, England.—(By Mail.)—At this writing, your correspondent is just back from a trip to Vienna, there to spend a week looking on at the German invasion and the plebiscite, a week looking on at the German invasion and the plebiscite, the result of which was announced at noon on Saturday before the election on Sunday.

And your correspondent wishes to announce there is life and stamina in the old frame yet. The chassis is an old model but it stands up under strain.

You see, the trip to Vienna is a 29-hour affair, on the express trains, and 36 hours if there are a few waits. It includes eighth. a channel crossing. Going to Vienna, your correspondent took the 36-hour route and coming back the 29-hour one. Does Mr. William Alexander need a good, strong, running guard? All of this was in a third-class coach.

Now, third class in England is excellent. In fact, there is a saving over here that only fools, actresses and rich Americans travel first class. And on the continent, second class is excellent. Third class on the continent is clean-except in France and Belgium-but it is hard. The seats are made of polished hardwood. Just that.

We rattled out of England to Dover, crossed to Ostende, and there sat down on hardwood planks to ride all that night, and all the next day to that charming Vienna.

The old chassis can take it.

AGED ON THE WOOD.

It must be admitted, your correspondent feels a bit older. Aged on the wood-not in it. Those saddles down at the field trials used to get quite hot after a few hours of riding. Those hardwood planks, after 29 hours, were also quite warm.

It was fun. Going up, there was an Austrian girl who worked in an ink factory; two fat house fraus who smelled of garlic; three German men, one soldier and your correspondent. There were eight of us in the coupe com-

After England there was Belgium and then Germany and then Austria. It was a long ride, amigos. Very long. But we got there. Thirty-six hours with no sleep and only those hard boards. After that, I think I am in shape. No longer will there be any worry about trivial

Even in a week in Vienna it was not possible to see much of Vienna. Everything was covered up with flags. The wine houses were filled. At Cologne, or Koln, the two Austrians got out. We closed the door. By then the German soldiers and the girls had started up some songs. They very generously had included me in their midnight sandwiches, which were composed of cheese and sausage, which was well flavored with garlic. I longed for the German house frau. I wanted to lean on her shoulder.

The door opened. In came a Czech woman. Her black shawl was about her head. She carried one boy and another followed, holding to her skirts. She was about 30 and looked 45. If I were to search the whole world over for a model to depict poverty, despair, fear, futility, hopelessness and a victim of the aftermaths of war, I would select this woman. And her children. Sensational Miami Relief For Athlete's Foot

Now at Local Drug Stores

Now Athlete's Foot sufferers everywhere can obtain the same treatment that has proved such a sensational success in Miami. The formula, known as 2019 SOLUTION, was first developed by a pharmacist for his own patrons in that hotbed of ringworm infection. and may be discounted as the season goes along. But the fact remains that these questions have been raised and they're talking about it wherever you go.

There is an inclination to be lieve that Little Rock, with all its hustle, cannot overcome heavy player losses and make a serious pennant threat, even with Doc Prothro at the helm.

And the current performances of Memphis, Nashville, Birming-ham and New Orleans lead one to doubt that any one of these clubs is as well fixed as last Knoxville, on the other hand, is improved and expects to get better. Thirty additional retail liquor licenses were approved yesterday by the city of Atlanta as scores of package stores prepared to open for business here today.

With wholesalers receiving a flow of legally stamped whisky from the manufacturers, retailers expected to begin full operations this morning.

City council, in special session yesterday, approved the 30 additional permits and adversed 20 others, holding five applications up for future action.

Amendment Vetocd.

An amendment to the liquor

rdinance which Acting Mayor Robert Carpenter said would have prohibited drinking except in private homes "or when lying down on the floor of business places," was adopted by council over stren-uous objections but Carpenter vetoed the measure promptly after the meeting was over.

It was introduced by the police committee to prevent "opening or drinking" whisky on the streets, sidewalks, in cars, in parking lots, and in places where food, beer or TO N.C.&ST. L. BOARD wine is sold whether "standing or sitting on stools or in chairs.

President of Trust Company "This meant a person could take a drink in a restaurant or cafe only if he was lying on the floor," Carpenter said. IS HELD TRADITION

Six-Year Backing of Roosevelt Termed All-Time High.

By J. C. RALSTON.

(Copyright. 1933, for The Constitution and North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

MADISON, Wis., April 26.—It is not surprising that Governor Phil La Follette has slashed the line that bound his craft to the Roosevelt ship of state. The wonder is that it was not done before.

The La Follettes had stuck to a national administration for six years—an all-time high.

In a series of four radio addresses, Governor La Follette has announced that he and his brother have "definition rails" with Process.

have "definitely split" with President Roosevelt in 1937. He said that the return of the depression was due to the failure of the adwas due to the failure of the ad-ministration leaders to follow a works program such as was ad-vocated by the La Follettes. Sen-ator Robert M. La Follette, in Washington, indorsed the Goverwashington, indorsed the Gover-nor's stand.

For political effect, the parting has been dramatized. In the fifth reel of the serial drama, sched-uled as a public meeting of lib-erals in the University of Wisconsin gymnasium Thursday night, the Governor is expected to rescue the distressed heroine, Miss Pro-gressive Party, from the political tising and business will be disand economic villainies in which she is entrapped.

The history of Wisconsin's reigning family reveals a marked inability of the La Follettes ever to see eye to eye for long with whatever national administration happens to be in power.

One year after the election of President Taft, the elder La Follette broke with his administra-tion on the Aldrich-Payne tariff, a break intensified by Canadian reciprocity. Two years after Woodrow Wilson became Presi-dent, Senator La Follette turned thumbs down on the results of the Wilson domestic policies. The rift was widening when the European war broke out, and the real rupture was due to Mr. Wilson's war policies.

For instance, Mrs. Bonneau Ansley, presiding over the meet-ing as Mrs. Hastings, wore one of Mrs. Hastings' favorite and most fetching hats, a small turban made entirely of violets. Mrs. Bob Autrey, impersonating Mrs. McBurney, arrived wearing a black and white outfit and a black sailor hat centered in front almost an exact replica of Mrs. McBurney's new spring ensemble. Mrs. Murdock Equen appeared wearing the gray coat and hat which you have thought so be-coming to Mrs. Scott this spring. And, in addition to her costume, she also appropriated Mrs. Scott's favorite topic of conversation— her new grandson—upon which she expatiated before, after and during the board meeting.

Mrs. Keith Quarterman, whose ability as an imitator you have seen demonstrated, represented Mrs. Harrington, telling of her recent trip to Africa and how her Garden Gateways had inspired the organization of garden clubs, even in the Sahara desert. Mrs. Robert Haire, another expert in the art of impersonation, gave a perfect interpretation of Mrs. Bryan's dignity—topped, if you please, by Mrs. Bryan's black sailor and wearing the black coat you have seen that lady wear this spring.

Of course the Junior Leaguers did not need the aid of their characters' costumes—they were that clever—but the coats and hats gave a most intimate and realistic touch, as you can well imagine. Much of the credit, however, should go to Mrs. Green Warren, for her splendid directing of the skit left nothing to be de-

Because of long, continued, and distinguished service in Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. Charles J. Haden, prominent Atlantan, was made life director for service in the federation. This action was taken on Tuesday by executive board members at the meeting held in Albany prior to the opening on Tuesday evening of the 43d convention of the state organization. Mrs. Haden well deserves this honor because she holds close to her heart the interests of Georgia Federation, in which she is a leading figure. The honor conferred on Mrs. Haden will be announced at the Wednesday session of the convention and given to the

Urban-Rural Panel Discussion Highlights Albany Conclave Today

By BESSIE S. STAFFORD, Editor of Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs.

ALBANY, Ga., April 26.—High-lighting the first business session of the forty-third convention of Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs, to be held in the municipal auditorium on Wednesday, will be the panel discussion on "The Vi-sion and Fulfillment in Urban— Rural Co-operation."

Inasmuch as urban-rural co-peration has been a definite part of federation work for 40 years, many of the movements regarding this subject were visions that Georgia clubwomen had of the serious need of co-operation in every section of the state.

For instance, in 1909-1910, the late Dr. Andrew M. Soule approached federation leaders to lay pefore them the fact that there were no funds available to help rural women and girls, although money had been appropriated to aid farm men and boys.

These leaders appealed to the legislature for necessary funds to take care of the situation. The bill to this effect was passed by the Georgia legislature in 1910 as of as many rural clubs with farm women as members, as city and town clubs. This work was never done for the farm woman as thing apart, but as a component part of Georgia Federation. "Spade Work" is an appropriate Work" is an appropriate term by which to describe the federation's work in the broadening of opportunities for farm women.

Prominent Speakers. Speakers on the aforementioned topic are Mrs. John K. Ottley and Mrs. Charles J. Haden, of Atlanhome economics at Georgia University, and Mrs. C. A. Mize, of Athens, extension specialist at the state university.

"The Vision of the moral life of the nation."

"Recession," said Mrs. Conger, "followed on the heels of depres-ens, extension specialist of preservation and utilization of food, co-chairman with Miss Lanier, and | rural movement will suggest to clubwomen the next step in cooperation.

Mr. Hailey, who is vice president of the City Bank of Albany, is enthusiastic over the "live-at-home" program, of which Georgia clubwomen have been a co-opera-tive factor since 1932. Incorporatnd in the official statement issued by Georgia bankers relative to the "live-at-home" program, at the close of 1935, is: "By an organized tie-up of several years' standing, Georgia bankers, farmers, agricultural agencies and Georgia clubwomen, the live-at-home pro-gram has stimulated Georgia's production of food and feed products; has increased cash crops from two to 16, and has made markets for this increased prod-uce, so that Georgia kept at home last year $12,000,000 which has formerly been sent outside the state."

State President's Address. Mrs. A. B. Conger, of Bain-bridge, State Federation president, in her address made Tuesday evening in the municipal auditorium spoke on the Biblical quotation, "Enlarge Thy Tent, Lengthen Thy the Georgia legislature in 1910 as a result of the concentrated effort put forth by clubwomen to help farm women and girls.

Mrs. Conger stressed emphasis upon the fact that expansion in the material world must be matched by renewed emphasis upon spiritual forces which stabilize and fortify men.

MY DAY

WASHINGTON, Monday.—We returned to the White House yesterday afternoon a few minutes before 6 o'clock. The people on the streets seemed to be in a holiday mood, with plenty of time to watch our cavalcade go by and to wave a friendly greeting to the Preside

Mrs. Frank Polk and Mrs. Charles Dana Gib-son, with her niece, Miss Brand, from England, came in to see us for a little while. Mrs. Gibson lives not far from Charlottesville and very kindly invited our law student son to have tea with her there. She recalled the days when my husband and the boys stopped to see her on the coast of Maine and, I gathered, practically ate her out of house and home!

She remarked that the modern generation is growing so big that one never knows when enough food has been supplied. I remember that, on that cruise, every friend who fed the boys ashore decided they did not have enough to eat the condition of the destroyer thought at sea, and the officers on the destroyer thought they had hollow legs! Perhaps the reason why the modern generation is so tall is because of the amount of food it consumes.

My brother said the other day that boys and girls are growing taller in this generation and almost all of them tower over their fathers and mothers. This proves we have moved forward in the care and feeding of youngsters in cases where we are able to afford a good doctor's advice and the food and care he tells us our children should have.

A large group of young people from the Dalton school in New York city asked to be received yesterday afternoon. After tea, I spent a few minutes with them before going into the pool with Mrs. Charles Fayerweather and my cousin, Elizabeth Henderson.

Our only guest at supper was Mrs. Warren Robbins. When the President went to his study to work, we discussed her job, which should develop into a very useful service for the State Department. We are gradually building more and more embassies of our own in foreign countries and the diplomats who go from one place to another should be informed as to what they will find in their new quarters and what they will need to take with them. The dequarters and what they will need to take with them. The description of the way the records are being kept interested me particularly. Every piece of furniture, every hanging, is listed in a book with a sample of the material, the place it was bought and the price, so that ten years from now it will be possible to trace ese furnishings with accuracy.

I ride every morning now before breakfast and find a number of other people have discovered how pleasant the bridle path is in the early hours and how delicious the air feels before the whole world surrounds you. Some people seem to ride even earlier than I do, for I met three people coming home as I was going out this morning.

A press conference this morning, and lunch with the Congressional Club ladies, always a pleasant party. Mr. Bentonelli, who sang for us earlier this year at the White House, gave us a delightful program. His accompanist is an artist and the combination is a joy to the audience.

Daily the question comes up as to what makes the teeth of certain persons so soft and so susceptible to decay. If the victims of this condition have any idea at all about it they generally mention that a dentist has expressed the opinion that it is because there is opinion that it is because there is opinion that it is because there is something lacking in their food. Formerly the prevailing notion was that they hadn't taken good care of their teeth.

On the other hand, we have enough scientific experimental evidence and enough clinical or actual study of experiences of va-rious tribes of people living under reasonably controlled conditions, to convince an unbiased or open mind of the fact that caries or de-cay or cavity formation in the teeth and gingivitis or pyorrhea or chronic inflammation and shrinking or recedence of the gums are due mainly to deficiencies of the diet, particularly insufficient assimilation and utilizaton of calcum (lime) and phosphorus and insufficient intake of vitamins, particularly vitamins O, C and, at least according to English author ities, vitamin A.

There is still room for argument regarding the importance of an adequate daily intake of vitamin C to prevent dental caries and gingivitis (gum inflammation), there can be no argument against the general advisability of getting a fair amount of vitamin C every day, for growing children and young adults as well as for infants. It is now the universal custom to feed infants a little orange juice or tomato juice daily to provide vitamin C to prevent scurvy. Where or when fresh fruit juice may not be available, factory canned tomato juice serves the purpose, as it is an excellent source of vitamin C. Home canned tomato or tomato juice is not, because more or less oxidation occurs during the canning process and oxida-tion destroys vitamin C. BACK COMES "KITTY."

Introduction of five-suit bridge brings the 65th card dealt and called "kitty" back ino the spotlight of card games to again play a stellar role. Players not only bid for the right to play the hand but for the right to the "kitty" card as well.

When each player has received 16 cards, the 65th card is turned face up in the center of the table. It remains there until after the bidding is completed when it goes to the highest bidder in exchange for some morthless card. for some worthless card.

BREAK FOR DECLARER.

Rules give the successful bidder terrific break for he is not required to pick up the "kitty" until after the opening lead is made and dummy-hand is expos-ed. Bidder can use the "kitty" card as he sees fit.

If he wants to exchange it for throw away a worthless card from his own hand and replace it with the "kitty" card, it is for bidder to determine. For example:

Bidder holds H—Q J 3 2; D—A

Dummy holds H—A 7; D—9 6. Kitty holds H—K.

Without the "kitty" card, declarer stands to lose one trick in hearts and a trick in diamonds, so he throws away dummy's losing diamond, replacing it with th both losers.

'kitty" heart King, eliminating ONE AT A TIME.

While all players may consider the "kitty" card as a possible fac-tor in influencing their bids, but one partner can have it at a time. "Here's my system. A VERY NEW SUSPENDER

FROCK FOR GIRLS.

The suspender frock is such a practical fashion, for with several different blouses it offers much variety, and nobody has ever thought of a line more becoming to girls of school age, from a primary 6 to a grown-up 14. This design is naticularly 14. This design is particularly new and smart because it has the snug, high-in-front waistline that fashion approves for everybody right now.

The pattern is so carefully planned and the sew chart that comes with it simplifies the making so emphatically that even novices will have no trouble with it. Make up the suspender part of Pattern No. 1520-B in sheer wool or flat crepe for early season wear and occasional cool days. And this one—by the soldierpoet, John D. McCrae—you never want to forget:

Later, it will be so fresh and pretty in linen, chambray or pique.
For the blouse, dimity, organdy or handkerchief linen are lovely.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1520-B is designed for sizes C. 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. Size 8 requires 1 5-8 yards of 39-inch material for the skirt; 1 1-4 for the blouse.

In our 40-page booklet, Poems the Whole World Loves, these and many other favorites are given complete. By Kipling, Tennyson, Poe, Burns, other loved poets.

NEW YORK, April 26.—(R)—Attempts to rally rails and utilities met with only mild success in today's stock market and late selling of steels and motors tipped the price scales definitely down-

General losses ranged from fractions to a point or so at the close, with a handful of wider setbacks among inactive issues. Moderate buying support at the finish enabled leaders to emerge above their extreme lows.

The turnover of 444,730 shares compared with 395,880 yesterday and, in view of the continued apathy, most analysts attached no great importance to the drifting trend. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off .6 of a point at 39.2, duplicating Monday's

The market had little to go on in the way of real stimulating news and brokers found the ma-jority of their customers inclined to restrict commitments pending to restrict commitments pending the monopoly message which the President was expected to deliver to congress before Friday.

Utilities were buoyed by the action of consolidated Edison which further reflected a cheering profits statement for the first three onths with a gain of about a point at one time. It ended unchanged at 22 1-4. Most other power and light company issues, along with carriers, confined their losses to minor amounts.

Rails were bolstered by the con-ference held late in the afternoon between the RFC, congressional chieftains, government officials, management and labor representatives to discuss emergency relief

Foreign markets were without much vigor either way, but securities in London fell sharply in unofficial dealings following an-nouncement of the largest peace-time British budget and a boost in than generally expected. This will probably cause some raily in the market's Wednesday.

BEER & CO.—Although the market's pattern at present has some of the aspects of a double top, we believe another attempt will be made to better last week's levels.

THOMSON & McKINNON—Inflationary possibilities are believed sufficiently strong to prevent the current duliness from developing into a protracted down-trend.

FENNER & BEANE—The most unsatisfactory aspect of the stock market is the continued disparity between current industrial stock prices and the very meager earnings in prospect for both the present quarter and probably the third quarter of the year. Against such a background maintenance of the trading range of recent weeks does not appear in reasonable expectation.

U. S. STEEL VOTES REGULAR DIVIDEND

NEW YORK, April 26.—(P)— United States Steel Corporation directors today declared the regferred stock.

The deficit for the first ter before payment of the divi-dend was $1,292,151, compared with a net income for the December, 1937, quarter of $4,594,505 and for the first quarter of 1937 and for the first quarter of 1937 net income of $28,561,533. The deficit was the first to be reported for any first quarter since that of 1935. No action was taken with respect to common stock.

STOCK OPINIONS.
COURTS & CO.—The United States Steel Corporation report, issued after the close Tuesday, was much better than generally expected. This will probably cause some rally in the market Wednesday.

outlook is buillish from the long range viewpoint.

E. A. PIERCE & CO.—It appears to us the decline from present level will be moderate and should afford good purchasing opportunities.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO.—There is no buillish enthusiasm. On further recession, we believe market should be purchased. Liverpool due Wednesday, May 4.72, October 4.95.

GRAIN OPINIONS.

COURTS & CO.—We believe situation is getting more bearish all the time as Dakotas as well as Canada have had good rains promising good spring wheat crop.

INDUSTRIALS GAIN IN BOND DEALINGS

Carrier Loans as Group, However, and Utilities Register Declines.

Daily Bond Averages.

NEW YORK, April 26.—(P)—The bond market closed lower to-day as business failed to give new clues to the forward trade outlook. Gains of fractions to 1 or more among a few industrial issues had no bolstering power for the general list.

Rail bonds as a group slipped lower, as did utility and foreign issues.

Conspicuous industrial gainers Conspicuous industrial gainers included Penn Dixle Cement 6s, rising 1 1-4 at 81, reflecting in part the spring building upturn. While building has not shown the upward velocity seasonally expected, cement makers are anticipating a substantial volume of new business if the government's public works are expanded. International Paper 5s were up 1 3-8 at 89 7-8.

Down 1 or more were International Telephone 5s at 58, American & Foreign Power 5s at 47, the American Type Founders convertible issue at 100, Great Northern 4 1-2s of '77 "E" at 73 1-2, Pennsylvania General 4 1-2s at 94 1-2, and Southern Railway 4s at 31.
The Associated Press average of 20 rail bonds fell .4 of a point and the utility and foreign bond averages lost .3 of a point each. While heavier grain movement is expected to aid some granger roads, there are no signs as yet of industrial tonnage improvement.

United States treasury issue riding the past few days to the highest levels since early 1937, moved raggedly today, ending 7-32nds of a point lower to 2-32nds higher on reduced volume. In the foreign sector, Polish 8s lost 3 1-4 at 53 1-2, while Czech 8s were off 1 1-4 at 76 1-4. Transactions face value, against $4,831,050 Monday.

NEW YORK, April 26.—(P)—May liquidation depressed cotton today after opening rallies. July sold off from 8.93 to 8.78 to close at the low, with final prices 5 to 9 points net lower.

The market opened 3 to 5 points higher in response to steady Liver-pool cables and on foreign buy-ing. The issuance of notices rep-resenting 7,700 bales on first May notice day, at first had little effect as trade shorts covered but when the notices continued to circulate and it appeared that large spot interests were not absorbing the near month, increased liquidation developed in both May and July. Absence of outside buying interest also accounted for the decline. Cotton goods markets were quiet. Exports 29,677, making 5,244,644 so far this season. Port receipts 4,868; United States port stocks

Rails and Industrials Reported As Lagging Behind Utility Stocks

Resistance to Pressure Shows Relatively Strong Position, Says Hughes.

By GEORGE T. HUGHES.

(Copyright, 1938, for The Constitution and North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.) NEW YORK, April 26.—Taken as a group, the utilities still make the best showing both as to earnings and as to the market price of their stocks. They have felt the recession and are still feeling it, but the comparison with a year ago at this time in earnings the resistance to pressure evident in the stocks testify to the relatively strong position of the industry. Power Output Drop. The continuing decline in elec-tric power production is due to falling off in industrial demand. but this is not so adverse to those operating units which have a large proportion of residential business. Consolidated Edison, for instance, reporting this week for the first three months of the year, was able to show larger net per share for the equity stock than in the first quarter of 1937. Results are available for too few corporations as yet to warrant definite conclusions, but, as far as they go, they are comparatively favorable. In the Dow-Jones compilation of earnings statements made public since April 1, 76 utilities reported increases against 67 with decreases. The tabula-tion as to industrials is 117 increases against 243 decreases, and for the rails, 15 increases against 52 decreases. Utility stocks have been noticeably steadier during the present reaction in the market than either of the other two groups.

The two quarters from which most could be expected in the way of genuine recovery are electric the result of the monthly poll of light and power and housing. As business executives by Banking, for the former, the administration's gesture in offer of loans is mildly encouraging, although it is not loans that the utilities want.

Campaign on Housing. Secretary Ickes is quoted as saying that municipal power projects are to be treated on a par with other government spending plans, and if there is any intention to let up on federal competition it is not publicly admit-

Possessions of Residents in Wooden Structure Burned by Exploding Stove.

Fire late yesterday destroyed vooden structure in the rear of 68 Clark street, S. W., damaged the Clark street residence badly, and destroyed the meager possession of three families.

The one-story wooden structure, approximately 44 by 50 feet, was subdivided into six apartments, three of which were occupied at the time of the blaze.

Caused by an exploding oil cook stove in the rooms of Mr. and Mrs D. C. Medley, the flames quickly raced through the building and spread to the rear of the Clark street residence, a boarding house owned by Mrs. E. S. Spear, who also operates the apartment in back.

Occupants burned out were Mrs Hulda Arnold, unemployed, and her 13-year-old daughter, Doris; Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Medley and three children, and J. L. Tho an unemployed carpenter. Medley is a WPA worker.

"Don't look so downbearted, sweetheart," Jeff chuckled; "everything's going to be just swell. With heavy heart, Mary Brooks followed and down the mountainside. As his path of descent Jeff chose a winding ravine, so he would be invisible to Tarzan. Mary's only hope now was that the ape-man would follow when he found them missing from the mountain cave.

Chuckled: "everything's going to be just swell. We're going to be a very lovey-dovey couple. And when we get to the coast I'll organize a safari and come back to see what happened to Bob and would follow when he found them

Mary shuddered. This man grew more and more distasteful to her. The thought of marrying him appalled her. But she had given her word, and she had a fanatic sense of honor. If only something would happen to release her from her promise! But what could happen?

Jeff was in high spirits. First, the honeymoon. Then he would organize a safari to return to the Zambeh country—not to determine the fate of Bob and Dr. Brooks, but to hunt down Tarzan like a wild beast, deliver him to the blacks, and turing industry speculated on the possibility that the British mission. Red Cross Juniors Bid Old Home Town Adieu headed by James G. Weir, air commodore of the British reserv forces, was acting in fact for both Great Britain and France.

A dispatch from Paris today said

A plan to build additional warplane factories in Canada with the aid of American technicians to insure themselves a supply of aircraft in the event of a European war is under serious contemplation by France and Great Britain, it was learned on good authority today.

The "main purpose" of the British mission which landed in the United States yesterday ostensibly "to explore the possibilities of buying American aircraft" was described as being a tour of American factories to determine whether it would be feerible to extelled.
